

Maumee Tree Commission Offers Update On New Plantings

The City of Maumee has planted roughly 1,800 street trees over the last three years. The survival rate of these trees has been tremendous, thanks in large part to site preparation and the dedication of city employees to make sure the trees are receiving continued care and watering.

When purchasing trees, the city can choose from guaranteed or unguaranteed trees. Guaranteed trees come with a replacement policy if the tree dies prematurely. These trees can cost up to three times the amount of unguaranteed trees. The typical failure rate of newly planted guaranteed trees is around 10 percent. All 1,800 trees planted in the last three years were unguaranteed. Of those 1,800 trees, only 73 did not survive, resulting in a failure rate of less than 5 percent.

The City of Maumee, in conjunction with Maumee City Schools, will be planting 65 new trees by Gateway Middle School and 30 trees in front of Wayne Trail Elementary. The trees will be planted as part of an Arbor Day celebration.

Maumee homeowners can contact the city and request a street tree. Homeowners will be added to the list and trees will be planted as they become available. Homeowners can request a certain type of tree, but the final decision will be based on ensuring the right tree is selected to thrive in the available space.

Plant More Trees

Maumee homeowners are encouraged to plant trees on their own properties. Start by selecting the right tree for the right spot. Select a tree that will thrive in the available space and soil conditions. Take into account the surroundings and any overhead obstructions.

Trees are not only beautiful but functional as well. Mature trees on a property can increase the home value by up to 10 percent. Trees help with rainwater mitigation. A medium sized tree can divert up to 2,380 gallons per year that would otherwise run off the property or find its way into low spots or the basement. Trees are also an economic boon for homeowners. A young, healthy tree can provide the same amount of cooling as 20 window air conditioners, drastically reducing energy bills.

Mulch With Care

Mulching can help a tree survive the heat of summer, but it can also stunt tree growth or even kill the tree. Proper mulching is done in a circle or square around the tree to at least the drip line or beyond if space allows. Keep the mulch thin around the base of the tree and no more than 2 or 3 inches deep moving away from the tree. Excessive mulching or volcano mulching can kill the tree. Volcano mulching is the practice mounding 6 inches of mulch or more around the base of the tree. The mulch will not allow enough air or water to reach the tree roots.

Keep An Eye Out For Pests

Pests can quickly damage or kill a tree. Bagworm is a common pest in Northwest Ohio that can be found on juniper, arborvitae, cedars, pine, hemlock, Chinese elm, honey locust, crabapple, maple, sycamore, box elder, willow, linden and poplar.

The insect larvae are active from June to August, stripping the needles and leaves from the uppermost parts of the tree or shrubbery. Bagworms create pinecone-shaped bags to protect them from predators and insecticide. Overwintered eggs begin to hatch in late May and early June. Treatment should be applied in June while the larvae are small and easier to kill. An insecticide with some residual is the preferred treatment. Picking the bags and burning them is also effective but time-consuming.

Now is a good time to check trees for bagworms while the canopy is sparse. Note locations of defoliation or the presence of overwintered bags that may be harboring eggs. Make a plan to have the trees treated before July.

About The Tree Commission

The Maumee Tree Commission is an advisory panel to the mayor and city administration. The Tree Commission recommends tree policy, oversees the city tree ordinance and uses community outreach to further education about the importance of trees in the municipal landscape. The tree commission meets the third Tuesday of every month at 1:00 p.m. at the city administration building. The public is welcome.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

By: Richard H. Carr, Maumee Mayor

Land Of The Free, Home Of The Brave

BY RICHARD CARR
MAUMEE MAYOR

Recently, I was driving my car and listening to the news on the radio. The military activities of China and North Korea were both discussed, and the Russian invasion of Ukraine as well. There had been a shooting at a bank in Kentucky resulting in several deaths. I just felt "down" listening to all the problems in our world and thinking of the impact they had on the day-to-day lives of so many people. Then, I turned from Cass Road onto Sackett Street.

It was a beautiful day, and men, women and children of all ages were walking/running on the Gateway Middle School track. On the adjacent field, several groups of children were practicing soccer. I looked further back and could see a baseball game was being played on the diamond by the school. As I continued, I saw a couple walking on the sidewalk with their dog and then a young mother pushing her infant child in a stroller. As I continued, I saw two boys playing ball on their driveway, and then two very young girls running down the sidewalk with huge grins.

I pulled into my driveway and just sat in the car for a while. I reflected on just how blessed we, who call Maumee our home, are to live in this community. I then received a telephone call from a resident who requires a wheelchair to move around who was so excited about the new road surface and parking lot being completed on White Street at the river, which allowed him to enjoy the view of the river and Towpath.

When I hung up from the call, I reflected on the past few minutes, which all had followed a meeting with members of the Maumee American Legion on the Memorial Day Parade. That made me reflect on my late father who served during the Korean War, my grandfather who served in World War I, my uncle who was a P.O.W. in World War II and my cousin who was severely injured in Vietnam.

My relatives, and countless other brave men and women for generations, made it possible for us to enjoy the quality of life we have today in Maumee. On Memorial Day, we remember the many young men from Maumee who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country and for each of us, and all men and women who have served our country in the armed services.

We are blessed to live in Maumee. This Memorial Day, we will again gather at Union School immediately after the parade to remember those brave men who left our city and never returned. I invite every Maumee resident to attend that ceremony.

We all need to take time, now and then, to think about the many positives in our lives and remember that America is the land of the free because we are the home of the brave because of the brave men and women who have served our country.

Maumee Rental Inspection Ordinance Quick Facts And Questions

Q: Who will Maumee’s Rental Inspection Ordinance benefit?

A: Tenants and property owners. Maumee City Council passed this Rental Inspection Program Ordinance in an effort to protect the safety of rental housing tenants and to stabilize housing values within our community. Too many rental properties in Maumee are not properly maintained, putting families and children at risk.

Q: Does Ohio law prohibit charging fees to register rental properties?

A: No. This is false. There is a free Lucas County Rental Registry, which does not include inspections. Maumee zoning law requires fees that are charged be commensurate with the cost of providing the service or registry. There are actual costs associated with processing property registries.

Q: Will the city’s charging fees for recouping costs to register and inspect rental properties force tenants to move?

A: No, This is false. Maumee zoning law requires fees that are charged be commensurate with the cost of providing the service regardless if the fee is for registry or inspection. Maumee can only charge actual costs associated with registries and inspections. As such, fees will be less than most expect and likely to be less than the equivalent of $120 annually or $10.00 monthly for a single-family home inspection lasting less than 30 minutes.

Q: Will the passing of a rental inspection program lower real estate values and thus increase the number of blighted properties?

A: No. This is false. There is no evidence in any peer-reviewed literature or otherwise that suggests rental inspections aimed at improving property values and increasing safety for those who occupy these rentals decrease property values. To the contrary, there is a myriad of evidence and data to suggest the very opposite exists. Property values actually increase over time in communities with successful consistent enforcement.

Q: Can a city prevent property owners/landlords from charging rent if they fail to register their rental properties?

A: No. While the proposed ordinance restricts property owners from charging rent for houses and units that are not legally registered, it allows a tenant of a noncompliant housing unit to escrow rent if there is a health and safety issue until such compliance is achieved. See Ohio Revised Code 5321.07(A).

Q: Is the city violating a property owner’s Fourth Amendment rights by passing a rental ordinance and inspecting rental houses?

A: No. This is false. The law provides for reasonable inspections of rental housing. If denied access to perform an inspection, then the city is required to obtain an administrative warrant prior to entering a structure. The courts have upheld municipalities’ right to inspect rental houses, especially when the public’s health, safety and welfare is at stake. All inspections will be scheduled far in advance.

Q: Will the city harm older, historical rental houses by requiring rental inspections?

A: No. This is false. The purpose of the inspections is to achieve compliance with public health, safety and welfare standards of residents as well as to aid in preserving property values of our community over time. The City of Maumee Zoning and Building Codes have provisions that allow non-conforming uses to continue under most circumstances.

Q: Is the passage of a rental registry and inspection program a city “power or money grab”?

A: No. This is false. Municipalities in Ohio and many other states are authorized to have such programs. In Ohio, the Ohio Landlord and Tenant Reform Act of 1974 and Ohio law allows inspection programs. The Ohio Revised Code requires that a landlord comply with all applicable building, housing, health and safety codes. Maumee Code provides for recovery of reasonable fees that directly correlate to the actual cost of such programs; no more. “Money grabbing” suggests charging more to achieve profit, which is not only false, but illegal.

Q: Will the passing of a rental inspection program and requirement for subsequent repairs cause mass homelessness (“tent cities”) as suggested by those in opposition to this program?

A: No. This is false. There is no evidence that suggests rental inspections aimed at improving property values and increasing safety for those who occupy these rentals causes homelessness. To the contrary, there is a myriad of evidence and data to suggest the very opposite exists. Housing security in communities with consistent enforcement actually increases the likelihood of affordable housing availability.

Q: Will the city require real estate agents and brokers to disclose the existence of a rental inspection program and/or require inspection at point of sale?

A: No. This is false. The city will not require such disclosure be made. A disclosure of this nature is left to the real estate industry to enforce based on ethical standards of conduct. Additionally, the city does not contemplate nor require inspections at point of sale. A purchaser of a non-owner dwelling will be required to register the property at the time of closing.

Q: Will most Maumee rental properties fail inspection?

A: No. This is false. While a few houses and units may fail inspection in terms of occupancy, an overwhelming majority will pass with limited violations requiring repair. In those cases where repairs are needed, 90 days will be afforded plus additional time if seasonal restrictions are applicable.

Q: Are the police and fire chiefs required to be licensed housing inspectors to make rental inspections?

A: No. This is false. Both positions have responsibilities under state statute and this local rental inspection ordinance. Police responsibilities are warrant-related while fire chief responsibilities are supervisory in nature for compliance with fire safety codes. However, most intervention by either are through notification of a housing inspector.

Q: Are licensed real estate home inspectors the only individuals authorized to make inspections?

A: No. This is false. Municipalities may employ housing inspectors who are not licensed but who work under the license authority of state-licensed building officials and inspectors.

Q: Are licensed real estate home inspectors the only individuals who can determine if equipment is installed in a “workman-like manner” as required in this rental ordinance?

A: No. This is false. Municipalities may employ housing inspectors who are not licensed but who work under the license authority of state-licensed building officials and inspectors. State statute clearly states work under all codes must be performed in a “workman-like manner” and the final authority for such a determination is that of a state-licensed building, electrical, plumbing, mechanical and or building official.

Q: Does passage of a rental inspection ordinance mandate property owners and landlords install fire suppression systems?

A: No. This is false. Fire suppression systems are not required in residential homes. However, larger rental complexes may be required by state fire code to install such systems if structures are substantially rehabilitated or newly constructed. Applicability is determined at the time of plan submission.

Q: Does passage of a rental inspection ordinance mandate property owners and landlords install firewalls in a house?

A: No. This is false. Many houses already meet one-hour fire rating requirements, and if they do not, the city cannot enforce such upgrades unless there are overwhelming rehabilitation efforts taking place in the structure. The Maumee Building Code allows for the continuance of use or occupancy of lawfully existing structures except where safety issues exist.

Q: Can a municipality, through passage of a rental inspection ordinance and performance of inspections, mandate property owners bring an entire structure up to current code?

A: No. This is false. While state statute affords municipal-

MAUMEE FIRE/EMS TAX LEVY

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

The City of Maumee is sharing information about a proposed tax levy in response the City’s Fire/EMS department staffing shortages, as the current staffing model has not been able to keep up with service demand. Below are answers to frequently asked questions surrounding the tax levy:

Q Why is the City placing a Fire/EMS levy on the ballot?

A To have a dedicated funding source that can only be used for Fire/EMS expenses.

Q What will a Fire/EMS levy provide?

A The levy will provide funding for Fire/EMS operational costs, including hiring new and retaining existing personnel.

Q Why does the City Fire/EMS department need additional staffing?

A The current staffing model relies on volunteers or paid-on-call staffing. This is no longer a viable option to support our community. Additional staffing will reduce response time as well.

Q Has the volume of Fire and EMS calls increased?

A Yes, substantially. Fire and EMS calls have increase 40% in the last 10 years, which directly correlates to the rise in operational costs.

Q Does the City have a Fire/EMS levy in place now?

A No, the City does not have a Fire/EMS levy in place now.

Quick Facts And Questions Regarding Maumee Rental Inspection Ordinance

ities the ability to enact stronger guidelines, it does not allow these cities to require code upgrades that were different than what was in place years prior unless, in the opinion of the chief building official, a condition with the great potential of bodily harm exists to the occupant or the public. However, every improvement contemplated or performed must meet current code.

Q: Can the city enact a rental inspection ordinance and perform inspections and mandate property owners to place a bathroom on every floor of a house or place a toilet in every room?

A: No. This is false. This ordinance only contemplates requiring a bathroom on every floor of a rooming and/or boarding house, not a regular rental house, nor will it ever require a toilet in every bedroom.

Q: Does the city administrator have the authority to compel or in any way require a landlord to evict a tenant?

A: No. This is false. Neither this ordinance nor state statute authorizes a city administrator to mandate landlords evict tenants. However, statute does authorize a chief building official to vacate occupancy if the premises are unfit for human habitation or a condition exists where the health, safety and/or welfare of an occupant or the public is in jeopardy. Every unit must be fit for human habitation.

Q: Will a rental inspection ordinance require inspections of houses or units that are occupied by family members of a landlord?

A: No and yes in specific circumstances. This ordinance contemplates exempting a landlord's or property owner's children from unit inspection. However, units occupied by other family members will be inspected as non-owner-occupied dwelling units. In any event, waiving rent is considered imputed income and according to IRS regulation must be accounted for in returns filed by those receiving benefit.

Q: Will the passage of a rental inspection ordinance cause landlord investors to stop purchasing in Maumee and purchase homes to convert to rentals in other communities?

A: Perhaps. However, there is no evidence to suggest that this would happen, especially considering Maumee's historically tight real estate market. It is likely, though, that investors will begin to rehabilitate and convert rentals back to single-family owner-occupied homes in areas of the city that are traditionally owner-occupied.

Q: Will the passage of a rental inspection ordinance reduce the amount of "affordable" rental housing in Maumee?

A: No. This is false. Maumee has a myriad of affordable housing options and converting even 100 homes back to owner-occupied will be offset by the nearly 200 low-moderate income housing tax credit (LIHTC) affordable housing units currently under construction and/or in the planning stages now. The units under construction now are subsidized from the nearly $2,300 market rate rent they would normally charge to half market rate. Low-income housing does not mean low-standard housing.

Q: Why isn't the city proposing inspections of owner-occupied homes?

A: The law affords the municipality to cite blight exterior to owner-occupied homes, and while Maumee does have challenges regarding these homes, owners actually occupy and are responsible for the dwellings they live in. Rentals are different in that they are a property owner's business and state law requires certain protections be afforded by landlords to their clients.

Maumee Fire Division Offers Fire Safety Tips

Smoke Detectors

- Smoke detectors must be working to save lives. Families should test alarms monthly, replace batteries twice a year and replace any smoke detector that is more than 10 years old.
- If you rent an apartment or home, your landlord must provide working smoke detectors. Contact your landlord immediately if you do not have any.
- If you do not have smoke detectors or need help installing one, contact the Maumee Fire Division, as we can help.
- Develop and practice a home fire escape plan.

Home Safety

- Clear leaves, debris and other yard waste from around the home, garage and sheds.
- Fuels for lawn and garden equipment, tools and vehicles should only be stored in approved containers.
- Check for frayed or damaged electrical cords and wires, and have them repaired by a qualified professional.
- Air conditioning units and electrical cords should be checked.
- Barbecue gas grills, including gas hoses, gas grill lines and propane tanks, should be inspected prior to use. Keep grills 10 feet away from house/garage while in use.
- Dispose of hot coals properly – douse them with plenty of water, and stir them to ensure the fire is out. Never place them in plastic, paper or wooden containers.
- Keep any combustible material 3 feet away from hot water tanks, clothes dryers and vents and any heating equipment.

- Remove any lint buildup from clothes dryers.
- Take stacks of newspapers and magazines to recycling centers.
- Get rid of oily rags and cloths used to wipe up fuel spills.
- Clean up work areas by putting away dangerous tools, adhesives, matches and other items that should not be accessible to children.

Severe Weather Safety

- Be informed – Have a weather radio and sign up for severe weather text alerts.
- Make a plan – Have a family communications plan. Keep family contacts up to date.
- Build a kit – Have enough food, water and supplies for at least 72 hours after a disaster.
- Know the difference between a Watch and a Warning. A Watch means weather conditions are possible for severe weather or tornadoes, and a Warning means severe weather or a tornado is coming and you need to take shelter immediately. For more information on disaster preparedness, visit www.ready.gov and sign up for Lucas County alerts at http://entry.inspironlogistics.com/lucas_county_oh/wens.cfm.
